

Publications of Thomas A. Burns, 1941-

“Folklore in the Mass Media: Television,” Folklore Forum, 2 (1969) 90-106.

“Involving the Introductory Student of Folklore in the Functional Analysis of the Material He Collects,” Folklore Forum, Bibliographic and Special Series, no.2, May, 1969 13-27.

“A Model for Textural Variation in Folksong,” Folklore Forum, 3 (1970) 49-56.

“A Joke and Its Tellers: A Study of the Functional Variation of a Folklore Item at the Psychological Level,” 6 vols, Ph.D. dissertation, Indiana University, 1972.

Doing the Wash: An Expressive Culture and Personality Study of a Joke and Its Tellers, Hatboro, PA (Norwood Press) 1976.

“Dr. Seuss’ ‘How the Grinch Stole Christmas:’ Its Recent Acceptance into the American Popular Christmas Tradition,” New York Folklore, 2 (1976) 191-204.

“Folkloristics: A Conception of Theory,” Western Folklore, 36 (1977) 109-134.

“Fifty Seconds of Play: Expressive Interaction in Context,” Western Folklore, 37 (1978) 1-29.

And J. Stephen Smith, “The Symbolism of Becoming in the Sunday Service of an Urban Black Holiness Church,” Anthropological Quarterly, 51 (1978) 185-204.

“Social Symbolism in a Rural Square Dance Event,” Southern Folklore Quarterly, 42 (1978) 295-327.

“Card Games: Changing Preference and Developing Competence,” Southern Folklore Quarterly, 43 (1979) 291-331.

“Card Games: Function in Light of Developing Preference,” (accepted for publication in 1978 in both The Journal of the Anthropological Association for the Study of Play and Brian Sutton-Smith’s edited work, The Study of Children’s Folkgames but never published at the time); finally published in the author’s Right On: Selected Short Writings of Thomas A. Burns, 2010.*

“Little Rhody: The Shape of Traditional Culture in Rhode Island Today,” document as part of the Rhode Island Folklife Project, Library of Congress, 1979.

“The Role of the Traditional Arts in Rhode Island Culture,” document as part of the Rhode Island Folklife Project, Library of Congress, 1979.

“Doing the Wash: Cycle Two,” Western Folklore, 40 (1981) 49-70.

“Where the Spirit Leads vs. What the Researcher Sees: Assessing Hans Baer’s Work on Black Spiritual Churches,” review essay, Reviews in Anthropology, 14 (1987).

Klamath/Lake Forest Health Management Guide, Klamath Falls, OR (Klamath/Lake Forest Health Partnership) 1999.

Klamath/Lake Forest Health Management Guide, Outline Version, Klamath Falls, OR (Klamath/Lake Forest Health Partnership) 1999.

*Dynamic Humanism: Balancing Complementary Human Perspectives and Mental Faculties, Science and Spirituality, Intellect and Intuition, An Essay, Chiloquin, OR, 2007.

*A Little Bit of Heaven Here: The Challenge of the Deliverance Faith Within Urban Black Culture and Mainstream American Culture, Chiloquin, OR, 2010.

*The I Within Me: The Life History and Intuitive Development of a Psychic Healer, Chiloquin, OR, 2010.

*Right On: Selected Short Writings of Thomas A. Burns, Chiloquin, OR, 2010.

*Available on my website together with numerous essays since 2007 on a wide variety of subjects of interest to me as a social scientist:

www.dynamic-humanism.com