

Supporting a Marriage

This afternoon the two of you
Make a public declaration of your love,
Each alone, both together.

We recognize your love;
We support your love;
We celebrate your love.

We also participate in your love.

You have made your choice,
Each alone, both together.
Now your choice belongs to all of us.

You form the core,
But we will share in what you become.

The only certainty you face is that you will change,
Each alone!
Your challenge is to grow with each today
To ever more complete tomorrows,
Both together.

Listen to what you feel;
Know what you hear;
Share what you know,
Each alone, both together.

By love, you know yourselves,
Each alone.
Through love, you understand one another,
Both together.
With love, we join you in building your tomorrows,
All together.