

“Hallelujah” – An End Note

My Daily View Divides All Things,
But Vision's Pulling All the Strings.

Eyes Closed and I Release Constraining Dogma.

I Strive to Know Reality's Core
Before I Slide to Evermore.

I Probe My World In Search of Hallelujah.

[Hallelujah chorus]

I Hope That My Experience'll Show
If Love Can Make a Way and Grow.

Is Love the Road that Takes Me Home to Karma?

With Love We Hold the World in Check
To Know Ourselves as More than Wrecks.

Is Love the Key That Unlocks Hallelujah?

[Hallelujah chorus]

I Hold You Close, and You Are Me.
We Merge As One, What Can This Be?

United, We Seek to Fathom Life's Enigma.

I Stretch My Self to Know What's More
As I Approach the Cosmic Door.

Remove the Veil and All Is One, Hallelujah!

[Hallelujah chorus]

I Get It Now, All Matter Sings:
“An Invisible Source Binds All Things.”

Not Hope, Not Mind, Not Faith, Not God – Nope, Nada.

It's Timeless, Boundless Energy
That Infuses All Reality.

An Infinite Web Unites It All, Hallelujah!

[Hallelujah chorus]

I Leave You Now As One In All,
Energy Compressed Before Recall.

My Views Collect the Truths of Science Buddhas.

Forever Grounded In All's Core
My Glide Is Waxed to Evermore.

I Wave Goodbye Thru Star Dust, Hallelujah!

[Hallelujah chorus]

[Spiritual/Scientific funerary lyrics to Leonard Cohen's song, "Hallelujah."]

Thomas A. Burns
2022