

Words – Wow!

What we perceive, we convert into words,
Words evolve into our highly valued language,
We combine words into thoughts,
Thoughts into statements,
Statements become discussion,
Discussion leads to decisions,
Decisions generate actions,
Actions return us to discussion.

But words themselves are artificial constructs
That we carve out of the extraordinarily limited part
Of material and energetic phenomena that we perceive.

Words convert reality continua into discrete entities,
Introducing the principle of separation
First into the core of our language,
Then into our word based thought process,
Ultimately into our worldview conception.

Words provide the basis for this point of view complex,
And all of it depends on the primary assumption of separation.

The result:
We inhabit a Word Worn World
Of our own creation defined by separate “things.”

By contrast,
Our technology has enormously expanded our perception
Exposing a material and energetic reality that is totally unified,
Nothing separate,
All as One changing simultaneously in the flow of Always,
Revealing our identity as totally shared in the infinite Whole.

To Escape Our Prison of Word Isolation,
We Must
Respect the Privilege of Total Belonging,
Accept the Requirement of Shared Responsibility,
Stop Abusing the ALL that Is Who We ARE.
