

Our Human Understanding of Reality

We humans have finally begun to understand that everything in our reality is both totally connected and constantly changing at every scale.

In this reality of complete oneness, cause and effect are infinite.

Everything is inside; there is no separation among “things,” no outside/objective perspective as our science has assumed.

In this unified reality, we now also recognize that our human perception is extraordinarily limited even within the modes of perception that we do possess.

Our technology expands our awareness, but it does so mostly within the basic assumptions of the material perspective that we assume captures reality.

We “modern” humans have only begun to escape from our material conception of reality and our reliance on 12th century codified religious dogma.

There may well be entire non-material dimensions of reality in which we participate but of which we are minimally aware, or totally unaware.

We humans are material beings whose total existence depends on integrated, immaterial energy fields in a cosmos originating in and dominated by energy.

When will modern humans be ready to recognize truly advanced ultra and extra terrestrial humanoids that may well have shared Earth with us for millennia?

Anti-gravity propulsion, zero point energy, physical transformation, navigating multiple dimensions, time travel, etc. seem to be standard for many “ultras.”

As a very young species [400,000 years] in a 12.5 billion year old universe with multiple billions of habitable planets and moons, we humans should expect to encounter other intelligent life forms far in advance of our current state!

Our future awaits! When will we unify globally, exclude disinformation, and stop trashing Earth and threatening one another with mutual nuclear annihilation?

Humility, unity, and true open-mindedness are absolutely necessary if we are to avoid ruining our opportunity to climb out of our ensconced worldview crib!
