FLOW

Commentary

At the virtually infinite scale of the Cosmos [Universe and likely Multiverse], there is only Flow – ALL Evolving as ONE. Within our incredibly tiny Earthly and Human existence, we create all of the divisions cited above [plus a great many more] and impose them as we define “Our” reality. We then act in terms of this artificial system of dynamic oppositions which is captured in our different societal worldviews. We exist in the Flow, but we live in our imposed cultural Fabrications fighting over whose manufactured divisions are “correct,” when it is all illusory.

Of course, ignoring our grand illusion problem, we can severely limit the scale of our perspective to the Earthly domain and “existentially” debate better and worse “Fabrications.” We just need to realize this is what we are doing.
